APPENDIX C: WHY SILVER?

Silver Entering a Sustained Structural Deficit as Green Demand Accelerates
Limited Substitution due to Superior Conductivity Properties

DEMAND DRIVERS

- ~55% of demand tied to green technologies (solar, EVs, electrification, AI and data centers). Solar (PV) alone could represent ~40% of total demand by 2030.
- Macro tailwinds (rate cuts, inflation hedging, USD weakness) supportive of precious metals demand.
- Strong ETF inflows (~95Moz in H1 2025) tightened physical markets.

SUPPLY FACTORS

- Constrained supply, with ~70% of silver produced as a byproduct, restraining responsiveness to higher prices.
- Stagnant mine production, with limited growth over the past decade.
- Declining above-ground inventories, reflecting market deficits.
- Lack of new discoveries, limiting the pipeline of future supply.

Projected Silver Deficit

National Instrument 43-101 Technical Report on the Santo Domingo Project

Cut-off grade was 45 grams per tonne silver equivalent over a three-metre true width and a gold-silver ratio of 72:1 ($1,260 Gold and $17.50 Silver). The Resource shows 100% recovery. The reader should be aware that only 80-95% recovery would be anticipated and no metallurgy studies have been completed to date on the project.

Continuity of mineralization was established by drilling on 50 metre centres, and using a specific gravity of 2.65. $1,260 Gold and $17.50 Silver prices were used.

The Technical Report has an effective date of November 17, 2017, meets the guidelines and form as set out in the National Instrument 43-101 – Standards of Disclosure for Mineral Projects and CIM standards, and was prepared for Stroud by Derek McBride Geological and Management Services Ltd., a Qualified Person as defined under the NI 43-101 reporting requirements. The Mineral Resource Estimation is contained in a report entitled “NI 43-101 Technical Report on the Santo Domingo Silver-Gold Project, Hostotipaquillo Area, Jalisco State, Mexico” dated November 17, 2017, which may be found under Stroud’s continuous disclosure filings at www.sedar.com.

Mineral Resources are not Mineral Reserves and do not have demonstrated economic viability. There is no certainty that all or any part of the estimated Mineral Resources will be converted into Mineral Reserves. The Estimate may be materially affected by environmental, permitting, legal, title, taxation, sociopolitical, marketing, or other relevant issues. The Mineral Resources were estimated in accordance with the Canadian Institute of Mining, Metallurgy and Petroleum (“CIM”), CIM Standards on Mineral Resources and Reserves, Definitions and Guidelines prepared by the Standards Committee on Reserve Definitions and adopted by the CIM Council on November 27, 2010.
